Raising Public Awareness Related to Water through Community Service Activity

Water is a basic human need that is very important for survival. Maintaining the availability of water is the responsibility of all parties including universities. Sriwijaya University (UNSRI) as one of the universities located in Ogan Ilir Regency, South Sumatra Province, plays an active role in increasing public awareness related to water through community service activities. This activity aims to educate and increase community awareness around the UNSRI campus about water use, for example related to water hygiene, how to treat dirty water polluted by waste to how to store water properly.
